Among the "so-called newspapers" of its own herculean efforts at reform the Washington, the most prominent is Forney's Sunday Chronicle. It has not printed a line in this wise. We give its own language: of genuine telegraphic news for three years. THOSE disgruntled Republican voters who Journal began the movement in the Demo-cratic party which, after much travail, crys-

THE Democrats of Ohio are practicing on General HICKENLOOPER'S real name since election, to learn to spell it right in future. They were very careless in their spelling during the canvass, but now seem disposed to improve their orthography and their manners. There is room for both.

OF course HANCOCK now comes to the front as an expedient Democratic nominee. But the fate of EWING and RICE, ex-soldier deserters to the revived Lost Cause, so to speak, will serve to assure any doubting Republican of the final result of his candidacy. Besides, the men like CHALMERS, of Mississippi, who are now urging him so frantically, are on record as having denounced him as the hangman of Mrs. Sur-

As it is, no blood will be shed, for and a corrupt attempt to purchase the votes since BARKSDALE murdered DIXON in Mississippi, the Democrats have come to the deliberate conclusion that it is their peculiar mission to murder Republicans instead of members of their own party.

DAN VOORHEES bellowed all over the State of Ohio, and had hay on his horns most the colored population. The Constitutional and its descriptions are finely executed. Inthe voting came, the count was made and the result was announced, his caudal appendage dropped, the hay disappeared from treatment of the colored population, instead his horns, and he moved moodily toward of having been liberal, has been oppressive the banks of the raging Wabash, sad and and murderous to an extent that has formed crestiallen. On the question of the ment, that TILDEN had not been elected Presidency Mr. Springen seems to be in a President of the United States. The madense fog, from which he fishes up the idea chine failed to accomplish its intended misand gives it utterance, that, although chief, for the reason that not only it, but General GRANT is the strongest man with the man in whose interest it had been inthe people, another, and as he asserts, a vented, were transparent frauds-and the much weaker man, will be nominated. UNUTTERABLE dismay is now depicted apon the features of the average stalwart Republican hereabouts. The Sunday Herald has raised the Bloody Shirt and accuses LAMAR, BARKSDALE & Co. with having sommitted, sanctioned or glorified the bloody political assessinations of the Southorn Home Rulers. The stalwarts aforesaid do not object, of course, to the appearance of these solid truths regarding the Solid South in the columns of the lineal descendant, sole heir and legal representative now on earth of the old National Intelligencer; but they do object to the appropriation of the ensanguined undergarment by a Northern Democrat as his own property, and an N. D., too, who has in the past derided it, sneered at it and kicked and cuffed it about, in sickening, truckling, sycop hantic laudation of these selfsame bloody-handed Southarn Bourbon leaders. And the joke of it is that the Sunday Herald has crept into the same bed with S. Jones Tilden, whom it despises, whose portrait it has " turned face to the wall," and whose renomination it violently opposes; but whose denunciation of Southern diabolism it now indorses.

THE presence of money, and plenty of it, in Ohio during the late campaign is not denied by any intelligent Republican; but that it was used for improper or illegitimate election purposes cannot be truthfully mate election purposes cannot be truthfully man of ability and a speaker of unusual exsuminated. The national Republican.

In the West, and only served as an influential political agency in so far as it relieved the people from the distress of hard times and thereby freed them from the fillacious belief that any change politically would be for the better. Mr. Springer's remark that the Republicans spent more money in that the Republicans served as an influence a capable colored man to the legislature to help make laws for our people. In Louisiana, Mississippi, and other Southern States, the colored man has no rights whatever, and if he "differs in opinion" with his white neighbors, like the black emigrant to Kausas, he has the question argued on his bare back with a hundred lastes in order to convince him of his errors; and just as long as this state of things continues and just as long as this state of things continues and the Republicans spent more money in that contest than was ever before used in a State just as long as this state of things continues at the South—just as long as liberty of conscience is violated, the ballot-box made a farce, freedom of opinion and action trampled under foot, and liberty secrificed and murdered by Demonstrate tyrants—just so long will the people reput the methods which are constanty uppermost in the minds of upprincipled trading politicans—men who, like him, are constanted in order to convince him of his errors; and just as long as this state of things continues at the South—just as long as this state of things as liberty series at the South—just as long as this target and the South—just as long as l politicans-men who, like him, are constantly on the lookout for new catchpenny attractions with which to advance their political fortunes. Failing to discover these, Mr. SPRINGER, friend and pupil of the Cipher Ogre, instinctively falls back upon

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Through the polite attention of Mr. H. D. DICKEY, 34 St. Cloud building, agent for JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG'S "Around the World With General Grant," we are in receipt of the first four numbers of the work. A glance at these numbers convince us that the style of the book in its typographical execution is superfor, while its illustrations are marked by a high type of art. The well-known literary reputation of the author, allied to a keen obervation in connection with a trip of unusual interest in the company of an American citizen, warrior and statesman, who has particulars submitted to the people of the been received with more honors and distinctions as indispensable conditions to a change tions in the Old World than have ever fallen to tions in the Old World than have ever fallen to the lot of any potentate living or dead, all This confession of the C.-J. that it is re-sponsible for Tildenism, which is the embodi-cation will add a gem to American literature ment of all that is fraudulent and corrupt in politics, is not a good showing for future work extant. The plan of issuing it in numcapital in the way of public confidence and bersgives the public an early idea as to its character, and will undoubtedly greatly facilitate its cantile assignment where there is nothing the city for subscriptions to the work, which is issued under the auspices of the American counts, broken bank bills and counterfeited News Company in numbers at fifty cents each. notes and bogns coin.
